

POSTGRADUATE ACADEMIC ENGLISH

If you are a taught postgraduate student, a research student, a visiting researcher or fellow and your first language is not English, it is important to quickly develop the specific language and skills needed to perform well in your academic studies and in communicating about your research.

Oxford Brookes offers free non credit-bearing courses, workshops, tutorials, writing consultations, on campus and off campus, as well as study resources designed to help you achieve this.

These run several times over the academic year with several timetable options available.
